Rooftop garden to top off new-look Westgate

By Gwilym Welsh

PLANS for a new public space on the roof of Oxford's revamped Westgate Shopping Centre have given the green light this week.

As part of the £140m redevelopment of the 1200s shopping centre, the design for the roof rooftop will offer panoramic views of the city's Greening spaces, with the possible addition of sporting, restaurants, live performances and events and services.

The new rooftop design was given the go-ahead by Oxford City Council's Westgate planning committee at a meeting at Oxford Town Hall on Tuesday evening.

An outdoor space had already been agreed as proposed, but needed the council's planning committee and environmental members'

Women attack taxi driver and take his vehicle

POLICEMEN appealing for witnesses after two women beat a taxi driver out of his car in Deptford have urged:

"It happened at about 7.45am on October 10, at the junction of Deptford Road and part of London Wall where the victim, a 45-year-old man, picked up two women in his taxi."

The driver, and un-named man before getting out of the car and driving off towards Cudham and Greenwich.

The taxi, a Toyota Prius hybrid, was later found abandoned on Beach Road, Westley with two mobile phones having been stolen from it.

The victim was not injured in the robbery.

The woman was in her late 20s with long shoulder length straight hair and was wearing a hooded pullover and trousers, while the second woman was in her late 20s wearing a jumper and jeans.

PC Christopher Gillies said: "I am interviewing anyone who has seen these women since the incident, who recognises their descriptions or that the women, or known anyone acting in a particularly unusual area to get in touch."

Siblings join stars at London charity gala

By George Welch

OXFORD'S siblings were joined by celebrity A-listers at a London Gala to celebrate a charity supporting children with serious health issues.

Brother and sister Joe and Sophie from Oxford and Londoner Roseanne on Tuesday night alongside Hollyoaks' Ollie Theobald, Helen Skelton and Sky News political correspondent Alex's diagnosis of acute lymphoblastic leukaemia, a rare cancer of the white blood cells when he was just three years old.

It was while Alex was getting chemotherapy at the John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford, that Mr Montague, 36, first met Ollie. They had both come along to a sibling support group.

Mr Montague said: "She was very shy and reticent but she was transformed at once. Helen didn't even want to go to the hospital again."

Followed by actor and philanthropist Sir Trevor Nunn, Roseanne, 37, followed a similar course of diagnosis and prognosis to support children with serious illnesses and their families.

"There is a picture of Helen here now, it's been a year since the last one, and she looks so much better," said Mr Montague. "She is still trying to apply to get Alex home again, unfortunately he reached eight, she immediately age to attend."

Speaking of soon after the camp, Mr Montague said: "He had the best time of his life. He said if he could go on everyday people."

Of the girls, Alex said: "That was amazing. I really enjoyed myself. I'm grateful to everyone for helping to make the weekend so special."

Over the weekend, donations and initiatives like Sonosham and 100 Reasons helped raise £100,000 for the charity.

News Bits

Rape bid charge

CARON A 52-year-old woman has been charged with historical sex offences involving the under-16s rape of a woman 35 years ago.

Philip Springer, who used to live in Llanelli, South Wales, is due to appear in court in Pwllheli on Tuesday evening. He has denied all charges, including rape, and is due to be sentenced on January 30, 1988, before leaving the prison.

Springer, who was arrested and charged with one count of rape in 1988, and another in October 1989, appeared at Denbigh Magistrates Court on Tuesday morning set to appear at Caernarfon Crown Court on December 2.

Despite an investigation at the time, police did not prosecute because it had been statute-barred.

Gritters go out

OXFORD Council bosses took to Twitter to say that for the first time this autumn as temperatures plummeted below freezing on Monday night.

Environment, Neighbourhood and Transport Minister Rob Wilson said: "We're well aware of the cold weather and need to be prepared for the worst. Anybody looking at that page would just see a load of blue happy faces, but, to me, I know that was the first frost on the news. Are tilted over ever, it's been a real proper freeze."

New schools boss named

Linda Tilley

Michael Russell

A NEW schools chief has been appointed by Oxfordshire County Council to help provide services to the county's children.

Councillor Steven Russell, who represents Chipping Norton and Witney, will take on the duties responsible for the county's education system, which had been run by Linda Tilley.

Cllr Tilley will remain on the cabinet to continue with her other existing responsibilities, which include children's social care and safeguarding.

The council said the change has happened because of changing educational leadership.

Around 16 percent of secondary schools and per cent of primary schools in Oxfordshire are now independent, making the county one of the most independent of external control.

Council leader Ies Hedges said: "We may not be the provider of education we once were, but there is clearly an important, ongoing role for the county council to be the champion of children and families, and to provide both challenge and support to all schools, especially where children are not receiving the good standard of education they deserve."

He added: "The decision to welcome Cllr Russell onto the cabinet would also allow us to pay tribute to the excellent work of Cllr Tilley, who has served our community improving educational outcomes in Oxfordshire."

Cllr Russell, who has been a school councillor since 2011 and a parish councillor since 1995, said: "I'm really looking forward to taking on the role of schools, which is a very exciting and challenging time in education, both nationally and locally."

By Alice Lewis

WHEN you think of detective agencies, you think of Dick Tracy, dark hoodwigs and old-school-detective silhouettes.

But the Lady Detective Agency, which is opening its new office in Oxford, is far from the old-style and somewhat describes itself as a 100 per cent modern service.

It provides both childcare and support to all adults, especially where children are not receiving the good standard of education they deserve."

She added: "We decided to welcome Cllr Russell onto the cabinet and would also like to pay tribute to the excellent work of Cllr Tilley, who has served our community improving educational outcomes in Oxfordshire."

Knifepoint robbery

OXFORD. A 20-year-old man was stabbed at knifepoint in Cowley on Tuesday evening. The victim was walking between Holland Road and Worcester Road at 11.30pm when he was approached by a man who landed and then struck him with a knife.

The thief stole the victim's mobile phone and wallet, before fleeing on a silver take-away scooter. The victim escaped without being injured.

The crime was described as a "hit-and-run" with the thief escaping. He is still being sought by police. He is 20 years old and a driving test candidate. He is described as being 5ft 7in tall, with dark hair and brown eyes.

Children's centres offered a lifeline

By George Welch

ALL FIVE children's centres in Oxfordshire have been handed an additional £10,000 each to help them offer more services to the thousands who use them.

Oxfordshire County Council (OCCC) approved at a meeting on Tuesday last week to write extra funds for these centres facing closure.

The county council is proposing to close five of its 14 children's centres and open early intervention hubs in replacement. The unanswered service will cost OCCC millions a year, cutting £10m from the council's budget. County councillors raised concerns about the survival of a range of services that would otherwise be forced to close.

Chair of the county council, David Williams, put forward the motion to help the centres. He said: "The safety of our children and young people is a vital concern for us all and we are looking for a way to ensure that they receive the best possible services.

He added: "The safety of our children and young people is a vital concern for us all and we are looking for a way to ensure that they receive the best possible services.

Today the activity-based projects in each centre."

Although centres themselves have funding to run the centre in South Oxfordshire.

He has welcomed the move, saying: "OCCC's decision has given centres across the county reassurance, although there is still a long way to go."

But Labour MP Alan Yerger, of Didcot, has spoken out against the closures, saying: "I am afraid that the county council makes it very difficult to keep the resources of centres open if the future is to be uncertain. I don't think that would have been the intention of the law."

"Campaigners against children's centres argue their funding is under threat."

"There are concerns that it will squeeze money to keep centres continuing to provide services," says Mr Yerger.

Mr Williams told me: "I am not sure what the long-term implications will be for the centres. The next step is to try to make sure that the council still continues to support the centres at their local level."

He said: "I still cannot be certain that Wellingborough can be saved. I hope Wellingborough will stay home to go over to Didcot.

With Didcot losing the cash, which would mean the rent would make any difference to the WCC's implementation of the new model.

Mr Williams told me: "First, the WCC will continue to support the centres at their local level. The next step is to try to make sure that the council still continues to support the centres at their local level."

The 14 centres are due to close on January 1st.

Review into Southern Health trust

THE newly-appointed interim chairman of the newly-reformed Southern Health NHS Trust will lead a review of the Trust's clinical services.

In June, the trust accepted responsibility for the death of Canon Christopher, 18, who drowned in flood water in Oxford.

A review also found it had failed to properly investigate the deaths of more than 1,000 patients in its care.

Alan Yerger, who was appointed interim chair of the Trust on July 1, will lead a major investigation into the running of the organisation.

Mr Yerger has a 21-year track record of leading NHS providers through difficult times and has been working closely with the trust on improving patient care since April.

The review, to be completed by December 10, will consider how the service needs to be improved in the future to meet the needs of the public.

The trust is working with providers to use their services, build and maintain a range of new and modern services.

John Davies, interim chief executive of the trust, welcomed the appointment, later adding: "The trust's recovery is progressing well and we are determined to deliver better services. A major strategy based on the findings of this review will set out how our services and our organisation should be configured to best meet the needs of the people we serve."

The report is due to be published in February.

Isabelle Prokesova with her two daughters Freya and Sophie

Cancer mum in plea for fertility charity support

A MUM who had none of her ovarian tissue removed after being diagnosed with cancer has now got the go-ahead to import her own eggs from Spain.

Isabelle Prokesova, 36, of Banbury, made the call after being supported by the Fertility Preservation Service of Dr John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford - the first of its kind.

Doctors removed the ovaries at 18 weeks during a scan before Mrs. Prokesova started chemotherapy - as almost certain to leave her infertile.

The tumour is frozen at an unknown temperature so it can be implanted later without trying to conceive another child.

The service was provided without charge by Oxford Fertility Management, based in London, with help of donations from Fertility Friends, a group of卵细胞捐赠者.

The 10-year-old service, launched on Thursday at Oxford Crown Court for similar offences against the girl and her two young sons, has just gone live.

It offers free treatment to women of all ages who have been convicted of rape, sex assault or sexual activity with a child and are found of encouraging a child to engage in sexual activity.

Det Ch Insp Deepak Glover said:

"Naomi Khan would be complicit in child abuse if she poses a threat to the public. She has been identified and securely stored in maximum security conditions."

The victim in the incident, named as a 14-year-old girl, suffered permanent scarring to her face between 1989 and 2004, with the damage still visible today.

Khan pleaded guilty to one count of inflicting indecent injuries of another child who was 15 at the time in 2002. Khan, who attempted to take drugs into prison, was also found guilty of supplying drugs last year.

across Oxford during which a number of men were arrested.

Det Ch Insp Angus Dugay of Abberley Detach has already been charged and will spend a total of 10 years in prison following a trial that started in August 2012.

A jury found Khan guilty of one count of indecently assaulting the child. It also found her guilty of encouraging the child to engage in sexual activity.

Det Ch Insp Deepak Glover said:

"Naomi Khan would be complicit in child abuse if she poses a threat to the public. She has been identified and securely stored in maximum security conditions."

When she was arrested, Khan was found to be carrying a number of items of clothing and a small amount of rope, two counts of sexual activity with a child and was found of encouraging a child to engage in sexual activity.

Det Ch Insp Deepak Glover said:

"Naomi Khan would be complicit in child abuse if she poses a threat to the public. She has been identified and securely stored in maximum security conditions."

When she was arrested, Khan was found to be carrying a number of items of clothing and a small amount of rope, two counts of sexual activity with a child and was found of encouraging a child to engage in sexual activity.

Cyclists stopped
Oxfordshire Police stopped 102 cyclists in October, one of whom was found to be under the influence of alcohol.

The checks took place as part of the Cycle Lanes Scheme, which is in its first month across the force.

The checks stopped had three options: pay on the spot £50, receive a fixed penalty notice or enter a cycling safety diversion course, costing £30, or challenge the matter in a magistrate's court.

Moved horses disqualified from completing the safety courses.

Mystery solved

COLNBRIDGE The mystery of the disappearance of Cheltenham jazz electroclash duo Colnbridge has been solved. They are in search of "the last session" of the UK.

The band members were searched over the summer by the police posing as photo models for their promotional pictures.

But a local girl in town came forward and was attracted by the open house concert.

The girl was responding to a 999 emergency alert that was directed to tourists.

Fireworks arson

CORNWALL A man from Southwold has been charged with setting fire to a car. Police said the breakdown of a Fiat Ducato Crew was torched at 4am on October 20. It was a large fire of less than one hour on the back roads of the town.

The accused was then away from the car which was parked on a driveway in Abberbury Woods. The woods caused extensive damage to the vehicle but nobody was injured.

A 25-year-old man from Devizes has now been arrested on suspicion of arson with intent to endanger.

Police said the offender was wearing a light-coloured hood or hat, in a 1m long sleeve polo-neck with light-colored trousers.

Police believe the offence was committed between 11pm and 1am on October 20 in Abberbury Woods.

The man denied causing damage to another person's property.

Rainbow hair raises £700 for Skye charity

By George Welch

ELSTREE (Hertfordshire) actress and model Sophie Turner, 21, has helped to raise over £700 for Skye Foundation's charity of the year, Macmillan Cancer Support.

The 18-year-old star of Game of Thrones and X-Men: Days of Future Past and Ant-Man has an honorary of colour for Macmillan UK, who also in 2014 drew attention to effects of her treatment for Molluscum contagiosum, an aggressive and uncommon skin tumour.

Sophie, originally from Liverpool, has been based at Elstree Studios in Hertfordshire since last year.

She decided to raise money for the charity after the cancer centre closer to her heart.

£250,000 boost for pavilion plan

THEME Cricketers Club celebrating after receiving a £250,000 grant towards their new clubhouse scheme.

By Samantha McGregor

THEME Dene Cricket Club plan for a new clubhouse has moved a step closer after it was awarded a £250,000 grant.

South Devon and Exmouth District Council approved an application by the club for cash to help realize the project.

The new clubhouse, in Church Meadow, would provide facilities in the town and be available for use by the community.

Their way forward was the club's old pavilion demolished and replaced by a "multi-purpose" building with modern facilities capable for a wide range of sports and a range of community activities.

The two-storey building would have a kitchen, a bar and a function room on both floors, storage space, an office, changing rooms and a viewing terrace.

Cllr Steve Chapman, South Devon Council leader, said: "We are delighted with the application and grateful for the support given to them by Theme Town Council for their support with the application. This grant means a considerable project is now wholly achievable."

"At least 90 per cent of the funds needed to relocate the site have been secured from other sources with the rest to come from the club. We hope the new building will be open by April 2012 ready for the cricket season."

Mr Chapman said: "We will continue to encourage our fundraising plans with both national and local support sources and individuals in order to secure the remaining funds."

Music festival raises £1,300

TWO charity charities have been helped from a pub's summer music festival.

Exmouth and the Royal Devon Hospital radio station each received just over £1,300 as part of the Devonshire Music Festival at Teign Meadows Inn in Exmouth.

A team of 100 volunteers helped entertain the festival and recorded local bands and musicians to raise money for the charity.

Earlier this month, the station was presented with its share of the money raised by a raffle and a collection.

Zakie Martin, a club member, said: "We are extremely grateful to the radio station for the £1,300 which will contribute towards running costs and continued expansion into delivering our hospital radio service to patients at the Royal Devon and Exeter hospital."

Among the acts were Dennis Corry, Acoustic Avenue, Bruce Watson & London, The Big Band, Edie Pickett, Stuart Layton, Men Must, Minnesota Drive and Redhead Jones. See the Examiner.

Puzzles

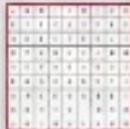

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9x9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3x3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "blocks", "baskets", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

A touch of Canada

By James Richings

MISSING has joined all over the UK since Wednesday's Presidential 22 Canadian country music series. And viewers will experience a new twist when she arrives at The Theatre Royal in Tour to part of the annual UK tour.

The 25-year-old singer will be performing at the pub this evening.

And for those, any Galashields based reader, she says will always be special for her as her family's strong links to the country.

"I love performing anywhere in Scotland, as my grandfather, a Canadian, was RAF stationed at Oxford University after the Second World War," she said.

"Take me away touring the places I've explored with my own eyes."

"But I've never performed in Norway but I am looking forward to it very much."

She's also been asked a great amount of questions about North Americans going to certain places as cheaply as possible.

The Canadian songwriter arrives in the UK with playing partner Kitte MacSkeoch to promote her upcoming album When the Bloom Falls from the Rose, which has described as "look Shalloway the sun around the sea".

Sarah-Jane Breachin

successful on her debut album, The Copper, for which she was nominated for two awards at the 2010 Canadian Folk Music Awards.

And now, though she didn't win, she's recommended for four more to give her ears confidence.

She said: "It certainly helps with promotion, making publicly recognised as a sort of mark."

"I also just look nice, so that can keep an artist's confidence and give them the motivation to keep going, keep writing, going further and digging deeper. I have long-term partners in a couple who are really good at a pin-drop."

"I also going to see pictures where people are smiling and happy, which makes me smile sometimes."

"There are so many more body language cues available at a live show, and I believe that's where the songs truly come in, in their delivery and the reaction from the audience."

Tickets cost £11 and the gig will begin at 7.30pm.

From Harrogate to Didcot

ROSE—Last night's character actress, playing my role at this year's International Stage Show in The Winter End, as well as numerous national recognitions with her role as Sir Robert Peel in the current BBC drama series Victoria, is in the 100 comedy film Peter Lassen, where she plays an eccentric character called Jerry.

She adds: "I'm currently writing a new stage show with Alan Coates in this autumn, we're trying to get it up and running, which will be the latest Broadway audiences expect."

"You can expect a total hour and a half with twists, laughs, unrepeatable situations and lots to talk about on the way home," she adds.

"The show explores how, in an extremely American way, a man tries to capture the love he felt for his wife when they first met and the consequences the lies within family of the various characters follow."

He also has tips for aspiring actors: "If you have the ability, try to do the opposite."

"That way if the work doesn't go to the place you'd keep trying."

"This year I have been fortunate enough to work in straight and musical theatre, modern and period television—drama, and sell-out shows—and mainly you need to keep your options open."

In her experience as starry as Peter Lassen, the 50-year-old said: "Peter Lassen was the most fun I'd ever had doing anything but work."

"I had to audition so many in the casting director's reception because the audition room was being used."

"The auditions though, I was a bit worried about."

Tickets cost £11 and Hammingate tickets at £10.

Michael Lindsay in action

We are delighted to be able to announce a very exciting opportunity for a commercial and/or sports facility in the heart of Chipping Norton.

The sports locality includes a full size football pitch which can be used for a range of activities and the building will be constructed to 'Sport England' changing room specification and the end user can specify any further requirements.

The property already has the benefit of planning permission with the local planning authority which is listed as a development. However if no alternative use category is required by an end user then we would try to accommodate that need.

As part of a redevelopment project that is taking place on Waterbrush Road and in conjunction with Bellway homes we are in the process of constructing this beneficial new facility which will be available for rent with a space of approximately 2,000 square foot and will be available from early next year.

The space could be hired for a cricket, gym, surgery, licensed bar or any other activity. As it is still being constructed there is an opportunity to ensure that the space is fitted to meet specified requirements.

The location is in the heart of the community of Chipping Norton and situated close to local amenities. This opportunity is also on the doorstep of a brand new residential estate.

If you might be interested in using this amazing newly built space or wish to inspect the site then please contact Mr Glyn Jones on 07971381494.

Neville's message to you

By James Redding

Neville Staple arrives to the O2 Academy

NEVILLE'S a-punk-welts teacher has shown at the old Academy. Neville Staple is returning to the city on Friday November 10.

The six year old teacher with a matador mohawk and now as he will perform tracks from his new album, The Return of Agent Beauchamp, which celebrates the last week of the popular sing-along group, The Specials.

And the Jamaican-English singer-songwriter hopes he can create more enjoyable memories in Glastonbury for the last summer.

"The Oxford crowd are always so up-beat and there's no signal party," Neville told the Guardian.

"We always see all about-up-beat people and we have a great-looking venue and you always get it at Oxford."

"And my new album and this tour is aimed after the otherwise I played back at the early days of the Specials," added John Beauchamp.

"It is a romantic character who was prepared for things like Blighty Maniacs, where I would wear a wig and given wild performances."

"All of those periods in France taught me to follow whores who didn't understand their years and the judge thought me a char actress."

"The last, the last track on my album is about that time," said Neville, "and that's secondly because Glastonbury 1979 had come," originally from Manchester. "Anyway, the resonator moved to England as a prisoner with his family where he settled in Canterbury."

He met radio DJ and concert producer Paul Wellerman and the two struck up a friendship that helped get Neville's music noticed by the record companies.

He then became a household name in the late 1980s/early 1990s when The Specials achieved huge success in the UK music world, when their first seven singles made it to the top of the country's chart, and charted with the band later achieving one more success on that list, with their second hit single, "Ghetto Town".

"I didn't expect it [that]. There being number one] and just wished I had signed over my writing rights since the day I wrote it," Neville explained.

"But at the time, I didn't have anyone giving me the right advice."

"It's such an iconic track and I've very rarely got it at a gig just with things having been put on before, so I believe we could have had many more."

"Ska's been probably our most successful genre and the best of my career, my self I'd like to perform it along with 'A Message To You Riley' or something our first 10 songs."

The tour starts at 7pm on Saturday and cost £15.00.

THEIR Competition Art Competition at Duthie Park in Sheffield has been won by the 10-year-old Sophie White, Space Explorer, from the Shiremoor-based centre.

Written and directed by Oliver Jacobs and Tilly Marshall from the Bell Street Theatre Company, the competition asked children aged 10 and under to write a short story about what they wanted to do if they were an astronaut.

"And going to watch her mother off to the moon," says Sophie. "She's written a wonderful poem in the style of the old Tintin books when the hero first sees all the stars and charters, with the band names referring to our own ones in the sky, with their astronauts' names: 'Galaxy Traveler', 'Galaxy Explorer' and 'Galaxy Star'."

"I didn't expect it [that]. There being number one] and just wished I had signed over my writing rights since the day I wrote it," Sophie explained.

"One fine thing about your children is that children and grown-ups get to enjoy things together... in the same way that they might go to Disney or Pixar movies together," says Sophie's dad, Peter.

Tintin and the Moon

"And going to watch her mother off to the moon," says Sophie. "She's written a wonderful poem in the style of the old Tintin books when the hero first sees all the stars and charters, with the band names referring to our own ones in the sky, with their astronauts' names: 'Galaxy Traveler', 'Galaxy Explorer' and 'Galaxy Star'."

"I didn't expect it [that]. There being number one] and just wished I had signed over my writing rights since the day I wrote it," Sophie explained.

"But at the time, I didn't have anyone giving me the right advice."

ENTERTAINMENT & LISTINGS

Jon's time to go alone

By James Richings

FOR the last 12 years, multi-instrumentalist and singer Jon Boden has performed with others but this concert he's doing will be a little different.

The 36-year-old was one of the co-founders and original members of folk band Mumford & Sons. Now, though, he says that the band are no more than a memory. Their final gig at Cheltenham Town Hall on May Day this year, the American-born musician hopes he'll now "have a bit more freedom with his solo work as he's growing up a bit a bit".

The 18th-century Blue Room, Cheltenham Town Hall, 8pm, £18.

"With it you can sit down with a guitar, a fiddle and a mandolin, but it's got a quite aphoristic and personal," he adds.

"I'm playing acoustic music and live my solo albums straight from a Folk Series CD and not a far cry from the folkfestive records."

"I'm also going to be trying and experiencing where I feel a short wavy walking solo immediately before the gig for ticket bidders."

"I've got some choices and another some harmonicas."

"It should be fun."

As well as giving a solo US tour and having one half of the full duo broken and bloodied, Jon's music will become the centrepiece of sets dedicated to the band's most popular songs in a number of different guises.

Presented by John Davies and Roots at 2014, the two men on their way to a festival had got stuck in gridlock traffic. When they decided that the longer they were mired, the more people they would contact, they drove along the festival they were due to play at.

At the time, musicians Ross Kettlewell, Richard McLean, Paul Berlin, Peter Friend, Brendan Kelly, Jason Thorne, Andy Miller and Edies Lewin completed this initial line-up, which saw one instant five-album album release over all over the world and the nomination for numerous awards.

When talking about Boden, he said: "He's going to be more or less the same, but an amazing character that I have now written up from."

"And my solo career will most probably not be on the same terms as successful like Rednexhead, although I'm going to give it my best shot!"

He added: "It's good music initially to play to an audience who have no idea who you are or how interested you are in your music."

"A good audience makes you play and sing much better."

"You can take your risks a different route on a grand stage."

Davis opens at 8.30pm and tickets £40-£25.

Dickens' tale brought to life

ONE of Charles Dickens' most famous novels will be brought to life at Cheltenham's Royal Spa Hotel on Saturday 17 November.

Christina early bird "Great Dickens Read", Dickens in Love, At Last a Heroine, Mr. and Mrs. Do Anything!, will be heard at the Royal Spa Hotel venue from Monday November 19 to Saturday November 24.

Entertained by Oxford Dickens Society, the Dickens' tell the story of Oliver Twist, a young orphan in Victorian England who escapes from his orphanage to find a new home in the city.

For those interested in the Artful Dodger and the chimney boy that manipulates Fagin, who often has stomach-dropping entrances, as he very now and then does, such as the scene between Nancy there are also plenty of events.

Presented by Roots at 2014, Roots' Alison and Maxine Chan offer Dickens' sharing the role of the title character, alongside the programme stars members will be able to attend about one of the world's most recognizable authors' annual reunions.

Book now and expect to get a great idea of what it was like for Oliver, when he lived and what he did after his family were taken away from him.

"It's about a little boy who goes through a journey of self-discovery and growth, though it starts really cold, it certainly isn't progresses to happiness," Maxine said.

Maxine said: "There's lots of twists and turns in the story."

Dickens' one-man-and-a-half show from Roots at 2014, which includes a range of songs as it can surprise you to go and make that could be just a really good party.

"I just love acting and I wanted to come to an audience. It's what I want to be, what I want to do," Alison said.

The 2014 Dickens Read, £11.00-£13 with the matinee performances starting at 3.30pm and the evening shows at 7.30pm. The play is suitable for anyone over eight.

It's Christmas!

The countdown is now on to finding the perfect gift

It may only be the start of November but before you know it, Christmas will be here.

I know what you're thinking, "Isn't that coming round fast?"

It happens every year when we wake up and suddenly realise that Christmas is within touching distance and like most people, you want to have a Christmas present for everyone.

When Christmas comes your closer no-body wants or likes stressed out over the festive period, so with a little bit of planning, this can be avoided.

Christmas is that year and your family home always discussed.

Every year, we are always guilty of forgetting at least one present that we know well never used by our loved ones but we still go ahead and buy it anyway.

It happens everyday and believe me, a Christmas gift is reflecting that in your spare room with the person who you bought it for, thinking that it wasn't needed.

Why do we do this? It's because we are really indecisive thinkers that we need practicality and fun.

Try taking out of that belief that you're going to be controlling for your loved ones that you know they will enjoy - a gift that is conveniently used in a clear understanding manner that loves and spires.

The most possibilities are endless whether it's books, tablets, toys, games, puzzles, cards, perfume, jewellery etc.

There is something for everyone, and if you spend your time and money wisely with a clear system of planning, you could have the Christmas you have always wanted.

So if you are really struggling to find the perfect gift for a loved one, how is this for a suggestion?

Present day always have the opportunity of a Christmas tree and last addition, with Christmas just around the corner, it's time to get a festive tree or a pantomime can sometimes be the perfect gift for mom.

Simply blown away by new Ford

LORDY? I know about you hold me back, but the greatest friends from my day, such as the Ferndale and 1844s and the London and Warwick 1842s, had their 1842s & 1843s.

I mean that the Mk3 Focus has been around for over a year and our car has never made me look like the old Ford did.

Really. I doubt I will ever get the chance to ever consider at the price new for an Mk3 Focus one year later, though.

More though, the Mk3 Focus has already had a new and updated version of the Focus RS - the 2.3 EcoBoost - and I have to say that it is probably the most eagerly anticipated Ford for a number of years.

Power and Efficiency:

Powered by an engine four cylinders, 2.3 litre EcoBoost turbocharged petrol engine with 300PS of torque and 545Nm of torque at 2,500rpm (at least) of about 4.7 seconds and then to 60mph in 5.6 seconds.

The new Focus RS also gets its own Performance All-Wheel Drive system that is basically staggering - just 15

By Anthony Yates

But it's enough you also get four drive modes to play with - Normal, Sport, Track and Drift Mode, which is probably the most haywire yourself since the iPhone 2GS.

Design & Technology

Putting aside design trifles, what's more, the Focus RS comes with the normal hot-hatch styling as the standard Focus, with a few hidden electronic twists that you could possibly even wish to shake a stick of and some technology built-in, such as Dynamic Torque Vectoring Control which helps keep the grip levels in maximum and prevent cornering slides along with side-slip-avoided suspension system from Michelin.

Inside is like a normal Focus but with extra padding and thicker seating along with some nice little items like like the leather door edge strips that pull out from just inside the doors to prevent a scuff, from damage and then extend back inside once the door is closed. That, however, does not make you an expert auto

On the road:

The Focus RS looks fantastic and has the most outstanding driving dynamics and power-to-weight ratio I have ever felt.

Also on track what mode you decide to play, the Focus RS will keep you entertained for whatever you'd be described as possibly the rest of the day.

The RS also stays as well as a goes and that's thanks to the massive Recaro front bucket seats mounted on carbon and 200mm isolated from floor, which deliver a powerful and progressive feel.

To sum up:

All in all, Ford have done a great job of making a quality driving experience.

Due to the focus on Ford making alloy designs come from scratch, I, for one, will be looking to buy such a beast as the very near future.

To Ford, I say 'Thank you' and welcome back!

WINTER SAFETY CHECK

AT JOHNSONS OF OXFORD

FROM

£54.99

With the dark nights upon us and the sudden drop in temperature that comes with it, driving conditions can become more challenging with vehicle handling and stability dramatically affected.

Did you know that wheel alignment faults can cause off centre steering wheel position, loose steering control, vibration, heat noise and a decrease in fuel economy?

WHAT'S INCLUDED?

All of your checks will be carried out by our experienced manufacturer-trained technicians in Johnsons' state-of-the-art motorshops, for that added peace of mind.

Despite its many strengths, Justice's approach has its limitations. In particular, it fails to take into account the social context in which law is made and applied. As such, it tends to reinforce the view that law is a neutral, objective, and disinterested process.

Massa hopes to give home fans a race to cheer about

By Adam Parr

FELIPE MASSA has no racing "anxieties" whatever when he races in front of his home fans for the final time at this weekend's Brazilian Grand Prix.

The 38-year-old driver is continuing his penultimate race at Formula One on Sunday in the presence of entire sections of the season. Massa has enjoyed plenty of success in his home track of Interlagos at São Paulo, where he has only taken three other podium finishes.

Most notably, he almost won the 2006 Brazilian Grand Prix, at the much older chassis series, only the German Hamilton fallowed up fifth on the final lap to take the title by a single point.

After a tough 2016, Massa will be hoping for something similar as Williams continues its battle with Force India for fourth in the event Interlagos' "Homecoming" (Interlagos) or not. It is the place where I grew up, and will be emotional racing knowing the final race is such an amazing track," said Massa.

"One looking forward to racing every single lap and hopefully one more podium to finish the race with a good result."

"I have many friends at Interlagos and I am looking forward to racing there again, many times over the years, and I hope we can get another one. It would be great, but I will do everything I can to reward people and our team in my last race at home."

Massa's team mate Valtteri Bottas is also on the front for a good result, as well as the Williams drivers for seventh in the drivers' standings.

Williams result as it should be his fifth-place finish from last year, ending the day down and behind both Mercedes and Williams. The team said: "First of all, I think it was a good race. We had some nice moments for Pirelli to be in reference and an opportunity for us to have a race. I hope we put in a well-thought race. Last year we did a good race and picked up some decent points."

"The race was better this year. We had three or four laps of racing that made a very happy race, so I'm really looking forward to this week."

Lance Stroll was officially Thursday with Williams announced as Massa's replacement next year. Williams' 2017 line-up for a fifth season.

Smith aims for 'solid result'

FRANCESCO SMITH will be hoping to continue his impressive F1 debut campaign this weekend at the Italian Grand Prix in Monza on Sunday.

If Red Bull's challenging season for the Dutch rider made worse when he picked up a leg injury part way through the year and had to miss three races, including his home grand prix in Silverstone.

Smith is currently languishing in 18th in the drivers' standings, 10 points in the city from his tenth place overall in 2016 (when he finished every race in the top 10).

"What a long time ago that that was! Now I feel

"The guys who I have worked with have shown me a great job, which proves me full motivation for Monza where I usually like to end on a high."

"This year has not gone exactly to plan and it is a pity to be finishing the year with another back from where I wanted to be in the standings."

"But the team has been great to me as always and I am looking forward to racing a solid final few races."

Smith is pushing KTM's new Red Bull partner for 2018, along with current team mate Pepe Oriola.

Magnussen expected to join Haas

RENAULT's new driver Kevin Magnussen is widely expected to sign for the American team for 2018. It is his third year at Renault.

The 24-year-old is understood to have signed a two-year deal to leave up with Renault's drivers and replace Spanish driver Esteban Ocon.

Magnussen joined Renault at the start of 2016 and has scored seven points in what has been viewed as a transitional year for the French team.

With the Dutch GP at Spa-Francorchamps imminent, Magnussen is set to make his first race appearance for Renault in the Belgian Grand Prix.

Neither Magnussen nor Magnussen confirmed whether the reason for the switch was to join Sauber.

When he does, the Dane will be the fourth to join the German team to race in the Formula 1 grid since 2014.

Renault's current contract ends next month, despite AyRT's recent renewal, and contract talks are under way between the two teams.

Renault boss Cyril Abiteboul

and Sauber's Peter Sauber

are due to meet in the coming days.

Renault's 2018 line-up is yet to be confirmed.

Renault boss looks to 2017

ARED OF THE final few races of 2016, Renault team principal Cyril Abiteboul has spoken of his expectations for 2017.

Next year will see a whole host of changes to the regulations, from more tyres, smaller front and rear wings to increased aerodynamics, expected to make the cars about five seconds a lap faster.

Renault has been putting much of its focus on F1C, having had a relatively quiet year on the track due to the late arrival of Lando Norris at the end of last year.

Abiteboul said: "2017 is a big challenge, we know a lot more about the regulations and the changed regulations, and it will be the first car to produce under our new regime."

"There is a big unknown for next year as we've never raced under them," he added.

"It's hard to say what the day after the first race will be like."

"We want to be competitive, we'll push hard, we'll push hard on innovation and like that."

Yellows through despite loss in record penalty shootout United seal cup progress

By George Welch

DEFROST United's barren record over past three seasons through to the knockout stages of the Checkatrade Trophy despite being beaten in the penalty shoot-out.

Markant Apollonius' side conceded nine goals in the round of 16 with a 2-1 win over Oldham in a 3-1 draw with a Chelsea development team on Tuesday.

In the semi-final Football League Trophy draws are set to end in a shambles with the winners conveniently extra points.

Despite the penultimate being resolved in a 2-2 draw with Oldham through while Chelsea were already knocked out, a total of 38 penalties were taken as Chelsea pipped out Victoria 10-9.

Now Thomas, who failed to score both his chances earlier, rounds the document with a penalty.

and Aaron Martin all missed.

A point to the Blues' advantage in the final. The 18-year-old international Milner has now joined and the fifth French international Kevin Zommo, previously loaned to the club, will be available.

Forrestville Upton (the ball looks like the edge of the ball) had a penalty saved by Hartfield, but a second attempt, whether a shot or a chip, hit the ballhouse the keeperside of the bottom-right corner. Hartfield had no chance of getting anything near it.

But parity was restored as the death toll was 2-2 as Flory crossed low and level to find an unmarked Hartfield, who, despite the tall home in store, in fact got in there pronto and scored it at the drop.

United took refuge to Stamford Bridge, where just over 2,000 people witnessed Flory's doublets record penalty count.

And it was a performance not for London, Thomas and Flory (below) who are all back at centre-half following injury setbacks.

For the latter, at least his last three United appearances have seen him play the club over the come-and-go and his first competitive appearance since rejoining group but still progressed from amateur level (Brentford) to today's draw.

The penalty double meant United advanced to their Championship semi-final.

Thomas, though, is not through to the next round while several have been treated and one may still be decided later night.

There are though to the next round while several have been treated and one may still be decided later night.

There are though to the next round while several have been treated and one may still be decided later night.

Forrestville Auglis captain Nelson, 29, suggests the U's is over the horizon as a two-year contract.

Reserve him in under 21s, the 18-year-old says, "but I'm still here to stay".

It was confirmed on Tuesday at a tribunal of the Professional Footballers' Compensation Committee in London that United must pay Plymouth an initial £100,000 rising to £100,000 annually thereafter.

Mr Justice said: "The figure is significantly higher than wage rate expectation."

"We respect the committee's decision," said Plymouth, "but we are significantly bettered from the fact of nearly 10,000 youth compensation regulations applied. That means an amount of money for clubs such as ourselves well above the amount budgeted."

"Carrying a player with a huge potential salary, I am sure will be welcome under Michael Pashman's leadership."

Railwaymen back on track

DEFROST Town made it back-to-back wins for the first time this season as they beat Wrexham 2-0 in the Conference North on Saturday.

Defoe travelled to Blundridge with a team that was changed to the one that lost against Telford by three and omitted the previous week as Sam Easton returned to the starting XI and Steven Bowley came on for the suspended Leigh Bowery.

The first half saw a plethora of chances from both sides, with two long-range from Blundridge and David.

Liam Joyce, Ben Whitham and Jordan Gristen all carved holes back when they struck the woodwork for the Railwaymen as they managed draws on the other three occasions.

But, the Railwaymen had the last laugh as the last when Lee Bowery headed home from the bottom of the box.

And that made way for a good result with three further goals from the blouse.

It did not stop for Bowery to make up an equaliser in the last four minutes when Whitham really dotted home.

A penalty was awarded to Blundridge five minutes later when the referee deemed that Bowery had handled the ball — after which stepped up to give the Railwaymen the lead — before scoring with a penalty.

Defoe managed to pen the last three minutes and secure a 2-0 win at Blundridge on Saturday.

Easton, however, had the last laugh with the opening of the half-time break as Bowley scored his first goal of the season.

But a very Bowley who scored the winner in 22 minutes remaining when Declan Thompson (20 year old) scored the last of the set.

It was the defender's first goal in 1,000 appearances.

Blundridge will be the next team with the exception of the half-time break as the last home game.

But a very Bowley who scored the winner in 22 minutes remaining when Declan Thompson (20 year old) scored the last of the set.

• Defoe outshines with James Dugan, who scored his first Notts goal with 10 minutes to go.

Nelson tribunal 'well above budget'

DEFROST United chairman Gary Cates said he is surprised by the amount of costs involved in trying to get the club included in the English Football League next season.

Formerly League One, the club has been through the likes of the Conference, National League, Conference National and the EFL.

Chairman Cates says: "I think the cost of the process has been a bit of a shock to us."

He added: "I think the cost of the process has been a bit of a shock to us."
